Opening of the exhibition
Upper Waiting Hall, House of Commons
22 April 2013

As Chairman of the All-Party Group I want to thank my officers for all they do and my Co-Chairman the exceptional Elizabeth Butler-Sloss who is here and I really do appreciate what she does in the Lords.

Prime Minister, you've been very pro-active in the fight against human trafficking. You've established the Human Trafficking Strategy. You had Anti-Slavery Day established. You revitalized the Inter-Ministerial Group on human trafficking and you arranged for an annual report and an annual debate in Parliament. But Prime Minister what you did more than that and to my utter amazement, you persuaded me to lobby to opt in to an EU Directive.

Ladies and gentlemen, I have great pleasure in introducing the Rt Hon David Cameron, the Prime Minister.
